Why emTRAiN? Free Legal Support

Ask and you shall receive.

Imagine if your employees and managers had a team of legal experts available to answer their questions within two business days. What might such a service cost? When you purchase any of our standard training solutions, this service is included at no additional charge. We call it "Ask the Trainer."

Our "Ask the Trainer" feature allows your employees and managers to email questions about the training topics to our staff of attorneys and get their questions answered in two business days.

Let us handle it

While your HR department might be able to handle some of these questions, we feel our solution works better. Here's why:

1. Learners generally feel more comfortable posing questions to a neutral third party.
2. Our attorneys have extensive, valuable, and relevant legal experience, including serving as expert witnesses in court cases involving the subject areas.
3. When learners ask us, your HR department is free to focus on other important work at your company.

WE KEEP YOU IN THE LOOP

All learner questions are stored and tracked and can be copied to a company administrator if desired. Also, if a learner's email alerts us to a problematic workplace situation, we report the situation to the company administrator for follow-up. (We also catalog and study questions as a way to constantly improve our training.)

IMPORTANT NOTE

We do not provide legal advice or responses to any specific workplace questions.
